Measure dairy production by output milk per acre

Dr. W. E. Peterson, of the University of Minnesota, feature speaker at Manitoba's 70th Annual Dairy Convention is world famous for his research in dairy production. He stated that we should measure efficiency in dairy production by the output of milk per acre or milk per man hour rather than on the basis of milk production per cow.

Dairy cows are equipped to handle quantities of forage which man is unable to digest says Dr. Peterson. If we can increase the digestibility of forage we can definitely increase the efficiency of the dairy cow.

The most logical way to accomplish this is to harvest forage early and before the plants get too tall and become difficult to digest. New Zealand has been able to develop the use of forage far beyond any country in the world. Mixtures of alfalfa and bromegrass have the highest degree of digestibility at the height of 12 to 14 inches.

Rotato pastures

By rotating our pastures it is possible to harvest these plants at their maximum digestibility and greatly increase dairy production. Silage allows harvesting these crops on the day when maximum quality is reached.

The other point that Dr. Petersen stressed was the conservation of labor, a big item in milk production costs. By loose housing, self feeding and the use of pipe lines, etc., in place of hand milking, this is comparatively easy.

Roughage in the form of hay or silage should be self fed, according to Dr. Petersen, for efficiency. Their experiments have shown that the pail milking parlor, with cows standing in stalls, is the best way to walk through stalls on each side of the pit has proven most efficient for saving labor. Here one man can easily milk 33 cows an hour.

If cows are lost and selected to replace them he visualizes that it is possible to milk 50 cows per hour. This would mean that one man with the proper set up could feed and milk 100 cows a day with only 6 hours work and the heaviest lifting would be one set of teat cups. This certainly appears to be taking a lot of the labor out of dairy production.

GARDEN NOTES

Easy to make big splash with flowers around cottage

It's easy to make a big splash with flowers even around a summer cottage, country home or other place where particular care is impossible. The best plan, in any of these cases, is to stick to things like petunias, nasturtiums, carnations, marigolds, zinnias, asters and similar plants which are not only easily grown but which also will bloom steadily for weeks. With only little care at first these will practically look after themselves.

It is best to have solid beds of one flower, though not necessarily the same color, for the showiest results and one should include some of the newest and brightest varieties.

A long bed of petunias about three feet wide will set off any driveway, and roughly circular beds of zinnias, marigolds, or some of the smaller things, will make a wonderful effect. In the older garden there are all sorts of tiny flowers like alyssum, portulaca, poppies and similar flowers which thrive even in poor soil and once well started will crowd out weeds and go on blooming until fall.

Special note

It is foolish and it is risky to plant all the garden on a single afternoon and just as soon as the first warm weather comes. It is risky because a late frost may ruin the whole garden. It is foolish because if it escapes frost, all the flowers will come out early or all the vegetables will be ready at the same time.

With the vegetables especially, it is advisable to spread sowings, so that the harvest may be spread out also. Experimenting and making a regular practice of planting such things as carrots, beets, lettuce, beans, spinach, radish, etc., at least three times, about two to three weeks apart. To further spread the harvest, they will also use early, medium and late varieties.

There is no good reason why the vegetable garden should not yield continually from early summer until late fall. And the same goes for most annual flowers, too.

Transplanting

Practically any plant, when young, can be moved successfully. The main thing is to keep the roots moist, especially when moving from the air and to cover quickly and firmly with fine moist soil. Watering during and immediately after transplanting is essential, unless the soil is very moist and also, if possible, we shade for the first few hours of the day or night.

With big things like trees and shrubbery, it is also advisable to tie trunks or main stem firmly to a stake to prevent the wind loosening. If there are only a few things to move, one should do the job in the evening and preferably when there is no wind.

Above all it is most important to cover the roots well and keep the soil firmly pressed around them.

To speed growth and lessen the shock of moving, it is a good plan to sprinkle a little chemical fertilizer around but not actually touching the roots.

May 24th will be a regular teaching day in which all schools in the province should observe. Regular school grants will not be paid for May 23, but will be paid for all schools in operation on May 25th.

The education minister said that the book has been acclaimed as a Jubilee Year number that will become a collector's item as a souvenir of Saskatchewan's 50th birthday. Copies already are in big demand.

In a brief introduction, Mrs. Wallace Thomson, of Pense, Homemakers' provincial president, says: "Early settlers gave freely of their hospitality to all who passed by on Prairie trails. It is therefore fitting that the Homemakers' Clubs should compile a cookbook to mark the Saskatchewan Golden Jubilee."

Mrs. Thomson acknowledges the help given by the Women's Services of the university extension department, which in the Saskatchewan Golden Jubilee Committee.

There is a historical review of Saskatchewan Homemakers' Clubs by Miss Barbara Oxner, a former Women's Services director. Mrs. Wallace Taylor writes of early prairie life in a sketch by Miss Edith Routley, of the University College of Home Economics.

Tellis of hospitality in the homes of the first settlers.

Each recipe appears in the handwriting or printing of the cook who originated it. Recipes native to Saskatchewan are used in many dishes as a reminder of the days when cooks developed their own techniques for serving native berries, fruits and game. All recipes are kid-tested.

The Saskatchewan Golden Jubilee Committee is helping the Homemakers publicize the book. Sales can be arranged by writing to "Cookbook," University of Saskatchewan. Proceeds from the sale will help to finance Homemakers' projects.

Precautions help service from refrigerator

A refrigerator requires very little care, but a few precautions will help you get more and better service from it.

Cool most foods before storing, as raw foods make greater demands on the refrigerator. The exceptions to this rule are custards, foods in cream sauce, salad dressings made with butter and eggs or mildly cured hams. These foods are good media for bacterial growth and should be either refrigerated while hot or chilled quickly with ice water.

Don't crowd your refrigerator, as it overworks the mechanism. Foods like unopened canned fruit or fruit juices don't need to be refrigerated. An hour or two before using is enough to chill them. Use left overs promptly. Plan meals so leftovers will be used while still fresh.

Defrost the refrigerator regularly, as frost prevents maintenance of proper temperatures for storage. Follow the maker's directions.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

And then it was night

By ANNIE KENDALL WILSON

IN AN alley shadowed by tall buildings the new moon cast a faint chance to show its face early in the night. Bruce, Herman threw up his head and thought about home. He touched the letter from Margie in his pocket. Gay, laughing Margie had caught herself close with that letter.

On a night like this the whole crowd would be down at the corner drug store. Margie's yellow hair would lie like sunlight on her neck and she would be gesturing and talking in that way which always made him smile. Why, they all get good jobs to begin with? Her eyes peered up at him from under dark lashes as she took time out to sip her chocolate soda. "Don't you of the city paper?" Then she would say, "I turned up her nose scornfully, and then she would sigh: "If I could leave Mother—but then I'll never have a chance."

Sometimes Bruce was sorry for her. Many times he wasn't quite sure she meant it. But it was what she said about want ads that sent him to the manager of a big department store in the city, and got him this job in men's wear.

The letter in his pocket made a warm spot. He was waiting to get to his room to read it. "The one most likely to succeed," he could hear her saying a little huskily that last night, when the whole crowd came down to see him off.

It was hot in the city and no moon nor sun either from the small windows of his close room. It seemed as if they were suffocating, time after time, when there were to go back. Mom and the big cool house in the little town, but he couldn't do that—quit his first job.

Bruce hadn't met many people, there were Nancy and Susan, who were Nancy-like he did. They thought this might not be to try out at the store, but these ideas usually vanished under the manager's practical eye.

They ate lunch together and talked about the store. Bruce wanted to buy men's wear near the ladies' department. Women did most of the buying anyway,

Budget seen
as good news
for farmers

Commenting on the recent federal budget, D. R. Gordon, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and Co-operation, said that, Hon. Walter Harris' budget contains some good news for farmers.

"Not only are the many tax and excise reductions welcome relief but most significant is the fact that agriculture has been given a strong measure to withstand the pressure of certain protectionist elements for higher tariffs which could only result in higher farm production costs."

"We are particularly pleased to note that there is no increase in the federal budget. D. R. Gordon, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said that the budget contains tariff concessions on a wide range of farm items on which we had previously made representations through C.F.A."

"The government's decision to support GATT and to take its full responsibility for furthering world trade is particularly important to prairie farmers whose prosperity is so dependent on their ability to sell surplus products abroad."

"Regulated driving" Although Bermuda no longer excludes the automobile, the popular Atlantic resort island restricts motor vehicle speeds. Speeds are limited to 20 miles an hour in open country, 15 in towns. No family may own more than one automobile. Cars more than five years old may not be sold for driving on public roads. 3138

Saskatchewan announces immunization program with Salk polio vaccine

REGINA.—Following announcement that the Salk polio vaccine had proved a success, the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health has completed arrangements to immunize 29,000 boys and girls born in 1949 and 1950 against polio. The immunization will be free and voluntary, the expense being shared by the federal and provincial governments. Vaccination will be done with three injections, the first two treatments being a week apart, the third a month later.

Health minister T. J. Bentley said the campaign will be organized in the Saskatoon and Regina and several other health regions. The clinics will be set up at key points chosen by the health officers.

Selected centres

Outside the cities and the health regions, clinics will be operated at 15 selected centres to which children are to be brought by their parents or guardians from designated areas. The areas are Biggar, Camrose, Colonies, Davidson, Elbow, Hay, Melfort, Kindersley, Kinsmen, Melfort, Meewasin, Nipawin, Outlook, Rosewood, Wadena and Yorkton.

Mr. Bentley said it was expected that the first injections would be given in Saskatoon and Regina and in the health regions May 2 to 7, the second doses May 9 to 14, and the final treatment June 6 to 11.

In the unorganized area the first injection will be May 16 to 21, the second May 23 to 28, and the third and final dose June 20 to 25.

The children in the Northern Administration area of the province are not included at this time and these will be given the protection at a later date.

Mr. Bentley said that the immunization programme would be started in the health regions and the two cities because they have fully organized public health staffs. After the initial two doses have been given, the children in the health regions, rural clinics will be left to do the work in the unorganized areas.

The health minister said that the department began in February to make plans for the biggest immunization project in its history. At that time it was intended to use parts of the large-scale test program in the United States and some parts of Canada would become known by the middle of public health nurses, two local registered nurses, and volunteer registrars and receptionists. Parents or guardians must accompany children and will be asked to sign consent cards before injections are given.

Children who miss the first injection will be eliminated from the immunization procedure. There will be no compensation paid for missed doses, Mr. Bentley said. Children who miss the protective doses or drop out will have to wait until further supplies of vaccine become available.

Mr. Bentley said that the vaccine had been found to be wholly safe; not a single case of a bad reaction was reported. One million eight hundred thousand children were involved in the test demonstration.

Careful records will be kept of the immunized population and immunization rates will be part of a detailed program to keep tab on reported polio cases this year. Every suspected or diagnosed case will be subject to check and confirmation.

The health minister hoped that all parents would co-operate with the department and the medical health officers, and that no one would seek immunization for children in age groups not being included in the current project.

He said the vaccine will become progressively available for the protection of all children, and for adults as well. Connaught Laboratories will continue production throughout the summer and a number of pharmaceutical manufacturers are also expected to have supplies of the vaccine available shortly.

Don't Neglect Slipping
FALSE TEETH

To save teeth drop, skip, when you talk, eat, laugh or sneeze. When you do, your false teeth may slip out. This is caused by such handicaps. FALSE TEETH, an elastic (rubber) bandage, is designed to grip firmly and tightly around the upper and lower teeth. Not gummy, pokey, pasty taste or feel. Get FALSE TEETH today at your drug store.

You can't quit
ALL-OUTIf you feel
ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure without relaxation. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, learned reactions, and emotional pressures affect kidney function. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes, formed in the body, are eliminated, disturbance follows. That "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follows. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's Kidney Pills help you feel better. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Spring thaw Warning

In most areas of the province, rotting ice and running water are creating a real hazard. These hazards are especially attractive to children.

Parents should warn their children about the water dangers in their own locality. They should, at this time, make a special effort to keep a sharp eye on children under school age.

Experts suggest that it is a good idea to have safety equipment handy such as a long pole, 50 foot length of light rope and possibly, a couple of inflated inner tubes.

Remember, where there is water and children, the children often end up in the water.

Swimmers and non-swimmers should be watched by a good swimmer whenever they are wading or swimming. Wade only where the bottom is known to be safe. Do not swim after a heavy meal. Wait 2 hours. It is believed that a full stomach is a common cause of cramps. Also, may cause an undue strain on the heart. If you must swim, try to swim in shallow water. Cool off gradually by rubbing water over entire body before diving. If the body is over-heated from exercising or sunning and suddenly comes in contact with cold water, blood vessels contract creating a jolt which may cause fainting.

Non-swimmers should stay out of baths. Novice swimmers should do their bathing with a competent person and in very shallow water. Can you swim well with clothes on? Learn to tread water, hardly, feet only, this is a most useful skill for saving life. Do not swim in the ocean, rivers or lakes. Do not dive into unknown waters, wade in until you find out the depth and if bottom is free of obstructions. If you are pushed, or must get into the water quickly at an unfamiliar bathing place, jump feet first (strike jump).

Should you fall in?

The government's decision to support GATT and to take its full responsibility for furthering world trade is particularly important to prairie farmers whose prosperity is so dependent on their ability to sell surplus products abroad.
